

A Two Day Course Covering Flocking Materials, Technologies, and Processing

The Course is Designed for:

- New entrants to the flocking industry
- Designers and engineers who use flocked products
- Previous attendees who want a refresher and update
- Plant floor production managers and workers
- Sales and marketing staff newly involved with the flocking industry
- Students studying flocking and fashion
- Suppliers looking to understand customer needs

Topics included:

- Substrates: roll-to-roll, object and graphics
- Adhesives: roll-to-roll, object and graphics
- Coating systems: roll-to-roll, object and graphics
- Fibers: selection to meet final product design requirements
- Fiber cutting, dyeing, and finishing
- Flock screen printing for apparel decoration
- Global testing methods
- Health and safety
- Physics of flocking

American Flock Association
PO Box 1090
Cherryville, NC 28021
(617) 303-6288

Click here for registration form

Course Fees Include:

- Two night stay at the UMass-Dartmouth campus
- All course materials
- Welcoming reception Wednesday evening and all meals through Friday lunch.

Facilities:

- All classes will be held at the birch conference room facility
- All-suite accommodations include common area and snack preparation capability
- For more information on the facilities, check out www.umassd.edu

July 31 to August 2,
2019